

Lasse Mørck Quartet

Recent years have seen young Danish double bass player Lasse Mørck emerging as one of the most prominent young talents of his generation, having recorded and toured both nationally and internationally with accomplished Scandinavian jazz musicians such as Magnus Hjorth, Snorre Kirk and Jesper Løvdal. With a steady, driving pulse and a big wooden tone on the bass, iconic bass titans such as Charles Mingus and Charlie Haden quickly jump to mind and ear as key influences, but at the same time it is evident that Lasse is in the process of developing a sound and concept all his own.

Receiver of the 1st prize as "Young Danish Jazz Composer 2018" and the Album of the Year aka "Jazznyt Prisen 2017" for his debut album Imagining Places I've Never Been, is but to mention a few of his recent achievements. As the title of the album implies, Lasse's compositions are built around visions of places he's yet to experience, and is best described as imaginative and heart-warming music, that nurtures the soul and makes you tap your feet. Lasse is without doubt one to keep an eye out for in the future!
